

Connect Your Employees to IAWHP!

The International Association for Worksite Health Promotion (IAWHP) is a global association dedicated to the advancement of worksite health promotion practitioners.

IAWHP is proud to announce a discounted group membership rate for companies that want to invest in their employees. Register 25 or more employees as IAWHP members, and pay a discounted rate of $10 for each member. That's a $45 discount off the regular $55 IAWHP professional membership rate!

Help Your Employees Stay Current and Informed

IAWHP membership provides your employees with access to a network of peers and a vast array of online resources (www.iawhp.org) to help them be more effective and productive. IAWHP members receive access to:

- An array of worksite health promotion articles that cover current topics vital to the profession and provide real-world ideas that can be implemented immediately
- An online membership directory to connect with peers doing the similar work around the world
- More than 25 live and archived educational webinars geared specifically toward the needs of practitioners
- IAWHP E-News which keeps members updated on emerging issues within the organization and the field
- Up to four issues per year of IAWHP's Official Newsletter, Worksite Health Promotion International
- And more!
