

University Network

Preparing Students for a Career in Worksite Health Promotion!

The International Association for Worksite Health Promotion is the first global association dedicated to the advancement of worksite health promotion practitioners.

The IAWHP University Network will connect your students with tools and resources to prepare them for careers in worksite health promotion.

University Network Fee of $250 USD/year includes:

- 1 Faculty membership
- Unlimited student memberships
(regularly $25/student)

To register your school, contact iawhp@acsm.org.

Network Membership Benefits

Resources

- Access to health promotion articles
- Quarterly IAWHP e-newsletter
- Access to professional and personal insurance programs

Networking & Promotion

- Connect with other IAWHP members via the Online Membership Directory
- Institution webpage linked through the IAWHP website
- Participation in Interest Groups to discuss worksite health issues & solutions with subject matter experts

Learning & Development

- Career services
- Leadership opportunities on IAWHP committees
- Quarterly webinars with continuing education credits

For more information on IAWHP, visit www.iawhp.org.